

History of The Holy Land

Moses has Escaped

1 BCE = 1 AY - 1 = 0

-1445 AY $\approx$ AM 2315: The Jews escape Egypt, guided by Prophet Moses. They arrive at The Holy Land also known as Canaan Holy Land! Jews are born

-1199, -999 AY;
AM 2561, AM 2761

The Jews in this new territory have some conflicts with the

Canaanites and Phillistines

(Original Residents) (People of the Sea)

Semitic

Non-Semitic

Jews	Canaanites	Phillistines
- Escaping Egypt - Motally Good	- Sacrifice children :c - Just random tribes	- Technologically Advanced - Migrants from Aegan

-1999, -999 AD; So Canaanites were there,
Am 2561, 2761
many Jews come from Canaanites as well.
Canaanites mostly assimilated to Judaism after some battles. They were seen as morally wrong by Jews. So I would say the two most powerful groups are

Also late bronze age collapse

JEW VS PHILLISTINES

The Bible often paints Phillistines with a negative light, but using Historical Context we can deduce that this isn't fully the case. The Bible itself also has examples of certain peaceful interactions

- David lived amongst the Phillistines
- Archeological records suggest they often traded.

Overall, History suggests that these two groups of people were just neighbouring groups of people who often had territorial disputes (very common at the time)

Levant Kingdoms
-912, -799 AD Am 2848, Am 2961
Kingdom of Israel	Kingdom of Judah	Philistine Powers The Coastal Powers

- Jews	- Jews	- Not Jews
- North	- Smaller	- Five cities
- Rich farmland	- Hills	(Pentapolis)
- More Population	- Dessert	- Confederation
- More Economically Stable	- More Politically Stable	- Rich soil
- More Powerful		- Strong commerce

There were also some other neighbours of Israel

• Phoenicia	All of these were constantly interacting with each other. They mostly shared culture and language
• Aram-Damascus
• Ammon
• Moab
• Edom

But these aren't that relevant I think, they were just random groups that will soon get decimated by Assyria. The only survivor of the Bronze Age Collapse.

- 852 AY = AM2907: Battle of Qarqar

11 Kingdoms including Israel fought to fend off the Assyrians. The most powerful of this coalition was Damascus, Hamath, and Israel. But among this coalition of kings there was Gindibu of Arabia, the first Arab mentioned in written history.

This battle was a stalemate, practically a victory for Israel proving they were a force to be reckoned with.

11 Kingdoms VS Assyria

STALEMATE

But then for one reason or another, the 11 king coalition was dismantled. And then Assyria conquered a lot of stuff

- 721 AY = AM3038: Ten tribes

And after a lot of Shennanigans Israel, along with most of Levant and even Egypt, was conquered / Israel Dead

-585AY = AM 3174 Judah was the only levant survivor. But eventually the Babylonian Empire gets to them

Judah Dead

Jews were exiled

And also Assyria and Babylonia got Philistia as well, all of the 5 cities still existed, but the people were either killed or assimilated.

AM 3221, AM 3244

-538, -515AY The Persian Empire

They allow Jews to return to the Holy Land and rebuild their temple. Levant is a Persian Province

Alexander the Great -331 AY = AM 3428

Kingdom of Macedon

Jerusalem and Judah surrendered peacefully, they kept their religion intact.

Also Hellenization he ended

Alex's kingdom divided into Diadochi

Judea was in the middle of Seleucid and Ptolemaic

High Priests learned Greek and were unfaithful to Judaism.

Hellenization

Basically, Seleucid was Greekifying Jews with their polytheism and Olympic games. Idols of other gods in holy temples.

Poor rural communities $\rightarrow$ Held onto Judaism

High Priest/Governor $\rightarrow$ Promoted other gods

-174 AY = AM 3585 :

Jason builds Gymnasium and Ephebeum

Hosts mimic Olympics

Idols of gods in

Eventually Jews started to get persecuted by Seleucid

Hasmonean Family = True Jews

-166 AY = AM 3593 Judah = Maccabeus

Everything became too Greek, The Maccabean revolution goes against Hellenization

M^{-166 AY = AM3593} Maccabean Revolution

They killed Hellenized Jews

They forcefully circumcised children :D

Battle of Wadi Hattania

Battle of Beth 166 BCE

They successfully defeated Seleucians
using Holy Land Advantage

Judea Back in Business,

Hammer
of Judea

Candle story → Miracles.

~ 140 AY = AM3619 :

(Hasmonean Dynasty) The Seleucid empire had problems with other Hellenistic factions as well as internal corruption.

Judea was defended successfully

Cool Point

The Strength of the Jews came mostly not from their numbers, but from their commitment to their religion as well as unmatched cooperation

So, the Jews successfully fended off the Seleucid Empire through pure resilience mostly. Although Hellenistic stuff was still somewhat present in Judea, like the Greek language for example, Judaism (Religion) was still alive and well.

Judea became it's own Kingdom

-66 AD = AM 3693: Hasmonean civil war
Roman Empire took the opportunity to SNATCH Judea

Judea became a Roman Province

But the Jews weren't happy so they committed violent acts

Jewish Sicarii
Assassins

Christ has Risen

AM 3761 = OAY = 1 BCE = 1 BC

Location: Holy Land

Jesus Christ created a religion promoting peace and love. Then he got killed. But his message is Alive

60 AY = AM 3820

It's sort of relevant to note that amongst all this conquests, the Jews are no longer in control of most of the Levant. Only a smaller section to the south of the Levant.

At this point the land is mostly Jews

65 AY = AM 3826

The Romans disrespected the Jews' religion so the Jews revolted.

68 AY = AM 3828

So two Jewish factions in Jerusalem kill each other. Rome decides to let them continue killing each other

Jewis Sicarii Vs Jewish Group

Romans (watching their enemy kill itself)

AM 3830

70 AY! Romans destroy the Revolt

Jerusalem continues to be a Roman province

Interlude: The Diaspora

The Diaspora refers to a group of Jews that lived outside of the Holy Land.

It started mostly after Babylon exiled all the Jews from the H-land. It's safe to say that the conquering of the Romans made the Diaspora even bigger, since Jews got exiled.

AM 3893, 3895

133, 135 AY other groups assisted the Jews

Simon bar Kosiba leads a revolt.

Bar Kochba = Son of the star

Bar Kosiba = Son of the Lie

He might be the messiah

They ultimately failed and Romans were so mad, they committed the first Jewish Genocide.

- 1 Million Jews died

- Romans renamed land to Palestine

Hadrian ← bad guy

First Major Genocide

136 AY

Many Jews persecuted in Rome

AM 3896

Circumcision and Jewish holidays banned!

Antoninus Pius then replaced Hadrian as the Emperor of Rome. He was more merciful to Jews. He repealed most of the anti-jew laws. Jews still couldn't enter Jerusalem which now had a temple for Jupiter. Jews were also now a minority in Judea/Palestine since so many got

- killed

- Enslaved

- Deported

- Or they just fled

This era was the main cause of the Jewish Diaspora

AM 4073, AM 4390

313, 636 AY : Byzantine Empire

Constantine makes Byzantium/Constantinople the capital of Rome. He introduces Christianity. He creates the Council of Nicaea for Bishops to negotiate a Universal Christian narrative/interpretation/Law.

Technically this is still Roman Empire so Palestine is still theirs. But Jews are more spread out in the world.

At this point most Jews are actually in babylon and mesopotamia. There are also some Jews in Palestine

- Galilee
- Palaestina Prima: Contained Jerusalem
 - Palaestina Secunda: Most Jews are here
 - Palaestina Tertia: Dessert

AM 4370

610 AY: "we rest in piece"

Muhammed has listened

1 AH = 622 AY = 622 CE

Muhammed and his followers fled to Medina after suffering persecution in Mecca.

I know this isn't the Holy Land but it becomes relevant in the future

8 AH = 630 AY

Conquest of Mecca

Badr: 300 Muslims vs 1000 Meccans ✓ 624 AY

Uhud: Muslims don't listen to Muhammed X 625 AY

Trench: Trench tactics ✓ 627 AY

Treaty of Hudaibiya: Meccans broke it 628 AY

March of Makkah: Meccans surrendered 630 AY

Mecca Conquered 8 AH

Islam united all of the Arabs.

632 AD = 11 AH:

Muhammed dies after unifying Arabia

His Father Abu Bakr is leader by election

Rashidun Caliphate

11-13 AH: Ridda wars

Re-unification of Arabia

633, 644 AD 13, 14 AH: Arabia Conquers

The Muslims start conquering for several reasons.

- Money and Riches

- Spreading their religion

- "Attack first, not second" Logic

- Norms of the Era

Not expanding when the opportunity presented itself was wild.

Khalid ibn al-Walid was a talented military commander.

The Byzantine and Sasanian Empires were in constant war with themselves. So the Muslims third party'd them. They get the Holy Land

639 AY = 18 AH = AM4399

The Muslims get the Holy Land
Finally we are back in the Holy Land

Pact of Umar: (People of I'book)

Basically Jews and Christians are allowed to live peacefully under muslim rule as long as they don't do bad stuff. Also they had to pay Jyzia.

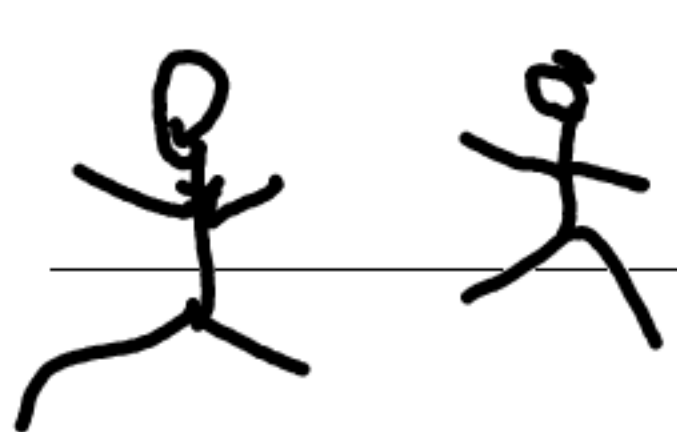

Furthermore, Jews re-gained the ability to live in Jerusalem/Aelia Capitolina which the Romans/Byzantines had banned the Jews from.

Greeks mostly lost their culture with exception of greek christians.

Then some Islamic civil wars happen but Palestinian Jews and christians aren't really affected so we'll move on.

Jews and christians

Muslims

692 AY = 63 AH
Year of Unity

Also Islamic Golden Age 785 AY

1092: Seljuk Turks conquer Palestine

The population in Palestine is still mostly Christian. Many military forces.

Christians and Muslims in danger Alike

Everything is more ~~violent~~

1065 AY: A Bishop was killed by muslims of unspecified affiliation

 ← dead

 ← muslim sword

1098 AY: The Fatimids now own Palestine

They got crusaded. Killing Jews and muslims.

Palestine is now The Kingdom of Jerusalem

Then crusade shenanigans

1291-1617 AY:

Mamluks take control of the Holy Land

Mamluks were slaves that decided to revolt after converting to Islam. They were militarily powerful.

1517-1917 AY: A muslim turkish empire known as the Ottoman Empire takes control of Palestine one final time before the war.

But let's re-cap

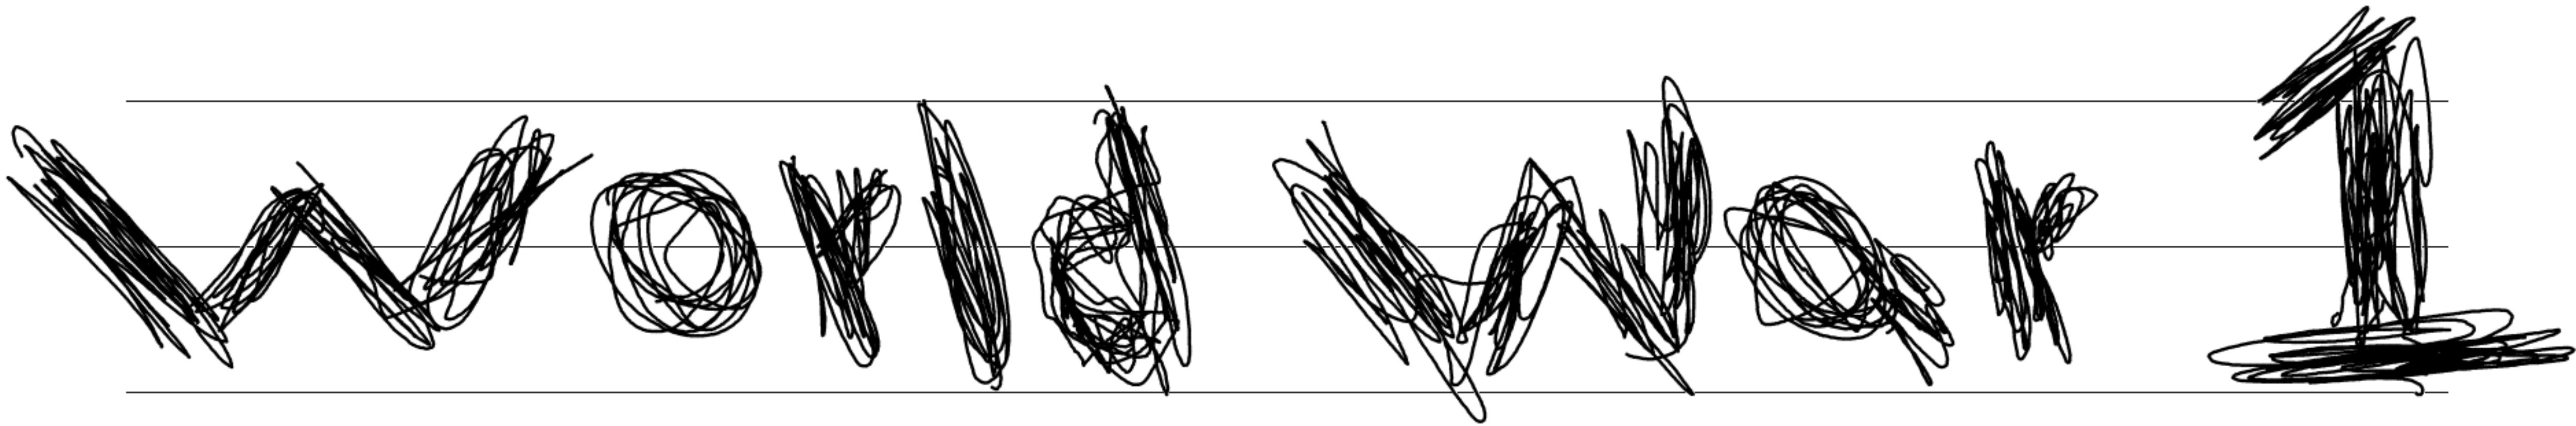

So, the Ottoman Empire now in control of the holy land. The following is a ranking of the monothestic demographical prevalence

1) Muslims [like 90%]

2) Christians [like 8%]

3) Jews → Low because Diaspora'd [like 2%]

The Ottomans ruled this land for 400 years kinda, there was a small instance where Napoleon took over Gaza and exposed how militarily vulnerable they were.

The Ottomans were on Germany's side of the first war. The central powers.

This means that they lost, and thus their territory was seized after the war.

1916 AY: It's very clear that the central powers are going to lose this war. So the Entente is already carving up the Ottoman Empire to see who gets what. They did this via the

Sykes-Picot Agreement

Sponsored mostly by France and Britain

What was agreed?

- France would get the lands known today as
 - Syria • Lebanon • Influence over Northern Mesopotamia
- Britain gets Southern Mesopotamia (Baghdad and Basra) and influence over Transjordan
- ~ Arabian Peninsula for Arabs
 - ↓ Lied to Hussein Bin Ali
- Palestine shall be designated for international administration and (in my opinion) a future commerce hub. This was mostly due to its religious significance to multiple parties.

November 2 1917 AY

The Balfour Declaration

So there was this political movement/ideology created by someone known as Theodor Herzl
1896 AY

Zionism: The idea/movement to establish a Jewish State in The Holy Land/Palestine

And in Nov 2 1917, ex-prime minister and politician Arthur James Balfour declared to zoologist and banker Lionel Walter Rothschild that Britain would endorse and assist the construction of a Jewish state in the Holy Land. Why? You may ask? The theories are countless

- To ingratiate the US' Jews
- To ingratiate Zionist Lobbying in Britain
- Russian Revolutionists
- Everyone wants to get rid of Jews
- Control over Palestine
- Genuine Sympathy

It was probably a combination of all of these

Regardless of the reason 1920-1947: Palestine becomes a British mandate in hopes to make it a Jewish state in the future. (Sykes-Picot Agreement violation)

Jewish immigration to Palestine increases and the "Palestinian"/"Ottoman" population gets worried because that's what people do when immigration increases. And because they kinda didn't want the Jews there.

World War 2

Though it didn't have much impact in the holy land, it still felt important to mention. Basically Adolf decided he didn't like Jews while simultaneously deciding to be a nightmare for everyone.

Fair to say Jews gained some well deserved sympathy.

1115: Chaim Weizman discovers how to use Clostridium Acetobutylicum to create Acetone

↗ component for gun-powder

Britain is already reaping the benefits of supporting the Jews.

Controversies of the Balfour
(A minor controversy)

The Balfour Declaration said Jews could "Establish" a home for the Jews instead of "Reconstitute" one.

A less-minor controversy

"Nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil rights of existing non-jewish communities in Palestine.

Another one

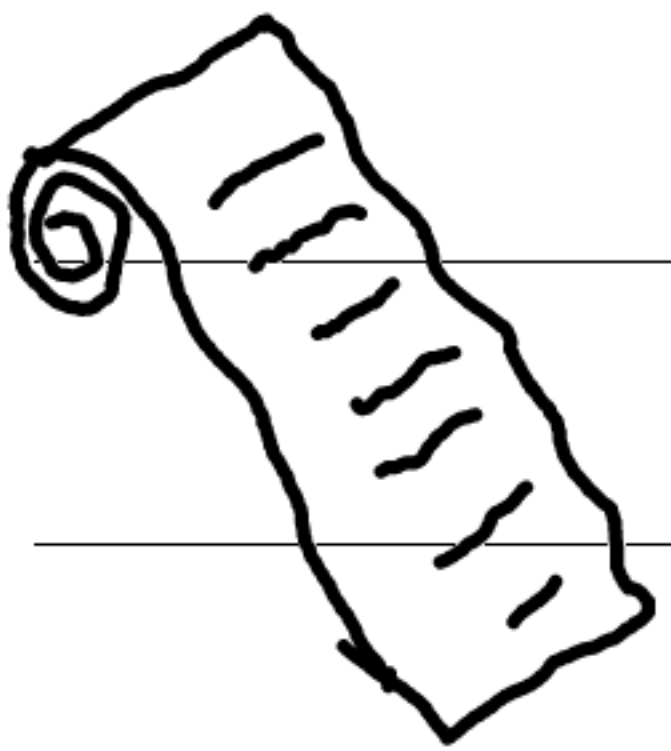

The British had previously promised Palestine to Hussein Bin Ali in exchange for Arab-revolt against Ottomans.

Also Balfour shat on the Sykes-Picot Agreement

1936 - 1939: White Papers

The White Papers of 1939 were a policy paper issued by the British Government in response to an Arab revolt in Palestine. This was shortly after The Arabs of Palestine had rejected the peel comission's idea of partitioning the land. The paper called for the establishment of a independent Palestine state within 10 years that would share power between Arabs and Jews.

* No one liked that *

The Paper attempted to quell Arab unrest by limiting Jewish migration while still sending enough Jews for Britain to officially say that they followed through with the Balfour Declaration. Arabs in Palestine didn't like this because they didn't want Jews migrating to Palestine, and Jews didn't like this because it limited their migration.

It seems that as long as Britain has the goal of establishing a jewish state in Palestine, The Arabs will be against them.

WM: Does Something

1947: The UN creates a Partition-Plan in which both arabs and jews get their own states.

~~Israel~~ becomes a country

ISROE

re-constitutes itself

And ever since then, the Jewish and Arab states lived in Perpetual harmony. The Arabs, despite being displaced, grew sympathetic towards Zionism and giving Jews a home in which to finally rest from perpetual persecution.

1948

1948

Starts a war

Apparently the so-called "Arab League" had rejected the Partition Plan proposed by the UN. But no one cares about them

"Then's the breaks" - Israel probably

"No, fuck the breaks" - Palestine probably

Strip

Arab Leagues VS Israel

Israel somehow wins and eats half of Palestine Around 700000 Palestinians are displaced the causes may vary.

- Israeli Expulsion ← This is the so-called

- fleeing from war "Ethnic Cleansing" everyone is talking about

Nakba

most refugees weren't allowed to return

Palestine Liberation Organisation: 1964

It started as a violent terrorist organisation that was against Israel's right to exist in the Holy Land. They attacked Israel multiple times until they were kicked out of Lebanon by Israel.

1967

Six-Day War

Tension builds as Israel decides to perform a pre-emptive military operation. This war was a result of growing tension. Also because Egypt closed the Strait of Tiran. Israel invaded the Sinai Peninsula but they gave it back later. Ever since this war, Palestine has been occupied by Israel. This means Israeli military presence in Palestine and Israel controls border checkpoints now. Mostly to prevent violent activity.

There is also a rising concern of Israeli "settlements", which is when an occupier country moves its population into occupied territory. But you already knew that :P

1967:

Arab League Summit.

Khartoum Resolutions

kill yourself

No peace, no recognition, and no negotiation

No Peace No Recognition No Negotiation

regarding Israel... So they clearly still don't recognize Israel, even after it handed them their own asses

1973: //

Arab-Israeli war or Ramadan war

The Arab coalition launches a surprise attack against Israel in Yom Kippur/Ramadan.

They were attacked when they were most vulnerable by Syria and Egypt.

By 1967 time Israel still hadn't returned the Sinai Peninsula to Egypt, this war's purpose was to take it back. Also Syria had lost some land in the 6-day-war as well (The Golan Heights)

This war was terrible for everyone

Both Palestine and Israel started to realize that this mutual animosity is getting dangerously close to being adequately definable as "Imbecilic to the most unfavourable degree" - someone very smart

Peace 1979: Israel returns the Sinai Peninsula to Egypt in exchange for PEACE  ← Peace symbol

Lebanon war 1982: The PLO is in Lebanon and it's attacking Israel. Israel invades Lebanon to banish them out of the Middle East 1st Intifada !!!!!! 1987-1991 !!!!!!

Remember Palestine? The country, yeah they've been occupied by Israel since the six-day war. They aren't very happy about that. Tension builds as Palestinians begin to resent Israel. This is mostly because of three things

- 1) Israeli military presence

- 2) Israeli settlements
- 3) Military Infrastructure

The resentment climbs to a whole new level when an Israeli individual killed 4 Palestinians in a street accident.

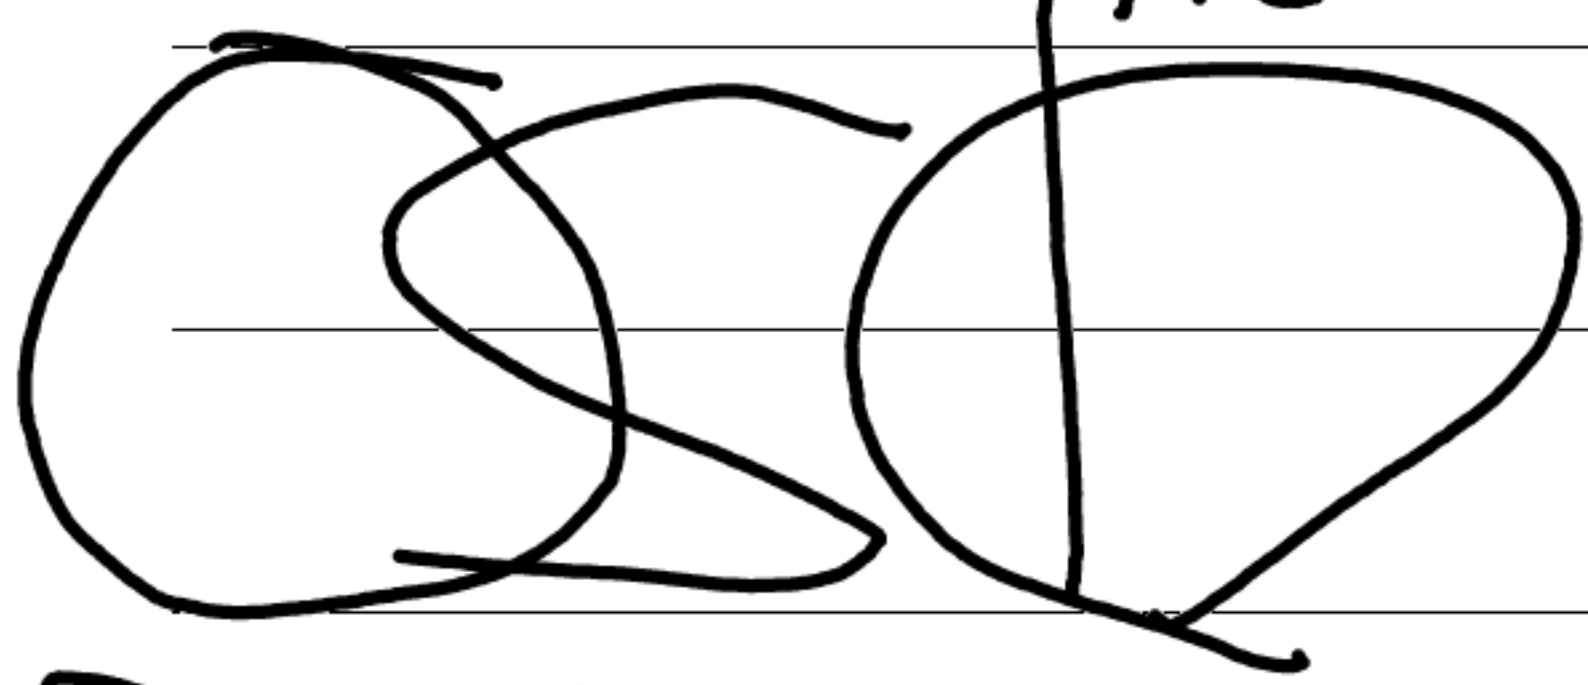

Palestinian protests increase in size and violence. Israel doesn't know how to deal with this. HAMAS Manifests

They try some of the following to stop this
- curfews

- Stoppin Protests by force

But these actions only made it worst, with news coverage taking the most extreme IDF military footage and painting Israel in a very negative light. This infitada ends in 1993.

1988: Palestine declares independance

Accords Israel doesn't like that (specially Likud)

Oslo Accords 1993:

Annex 1 Palestine will have elections.

Annex 2 Israeli forces shall withdraw.
(from Jericho and Gaza)

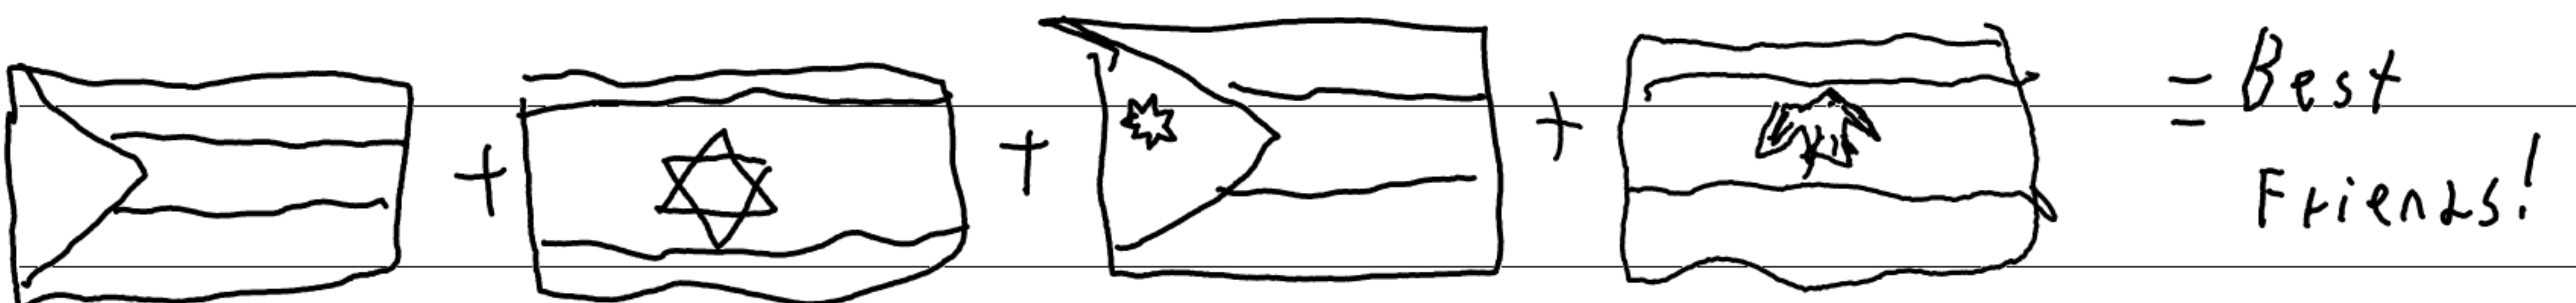

Annex 3 Economic cooperation

Annex 4 Regional development (no clue what that means)

And they lived in peace

Israel-Jordan Peace Treaty 1994:

Things are looking good, we've made peace with three countries. Nothing could possibly ruin this.

Right wing Israel is unhappy

But not everyone was happy about this.

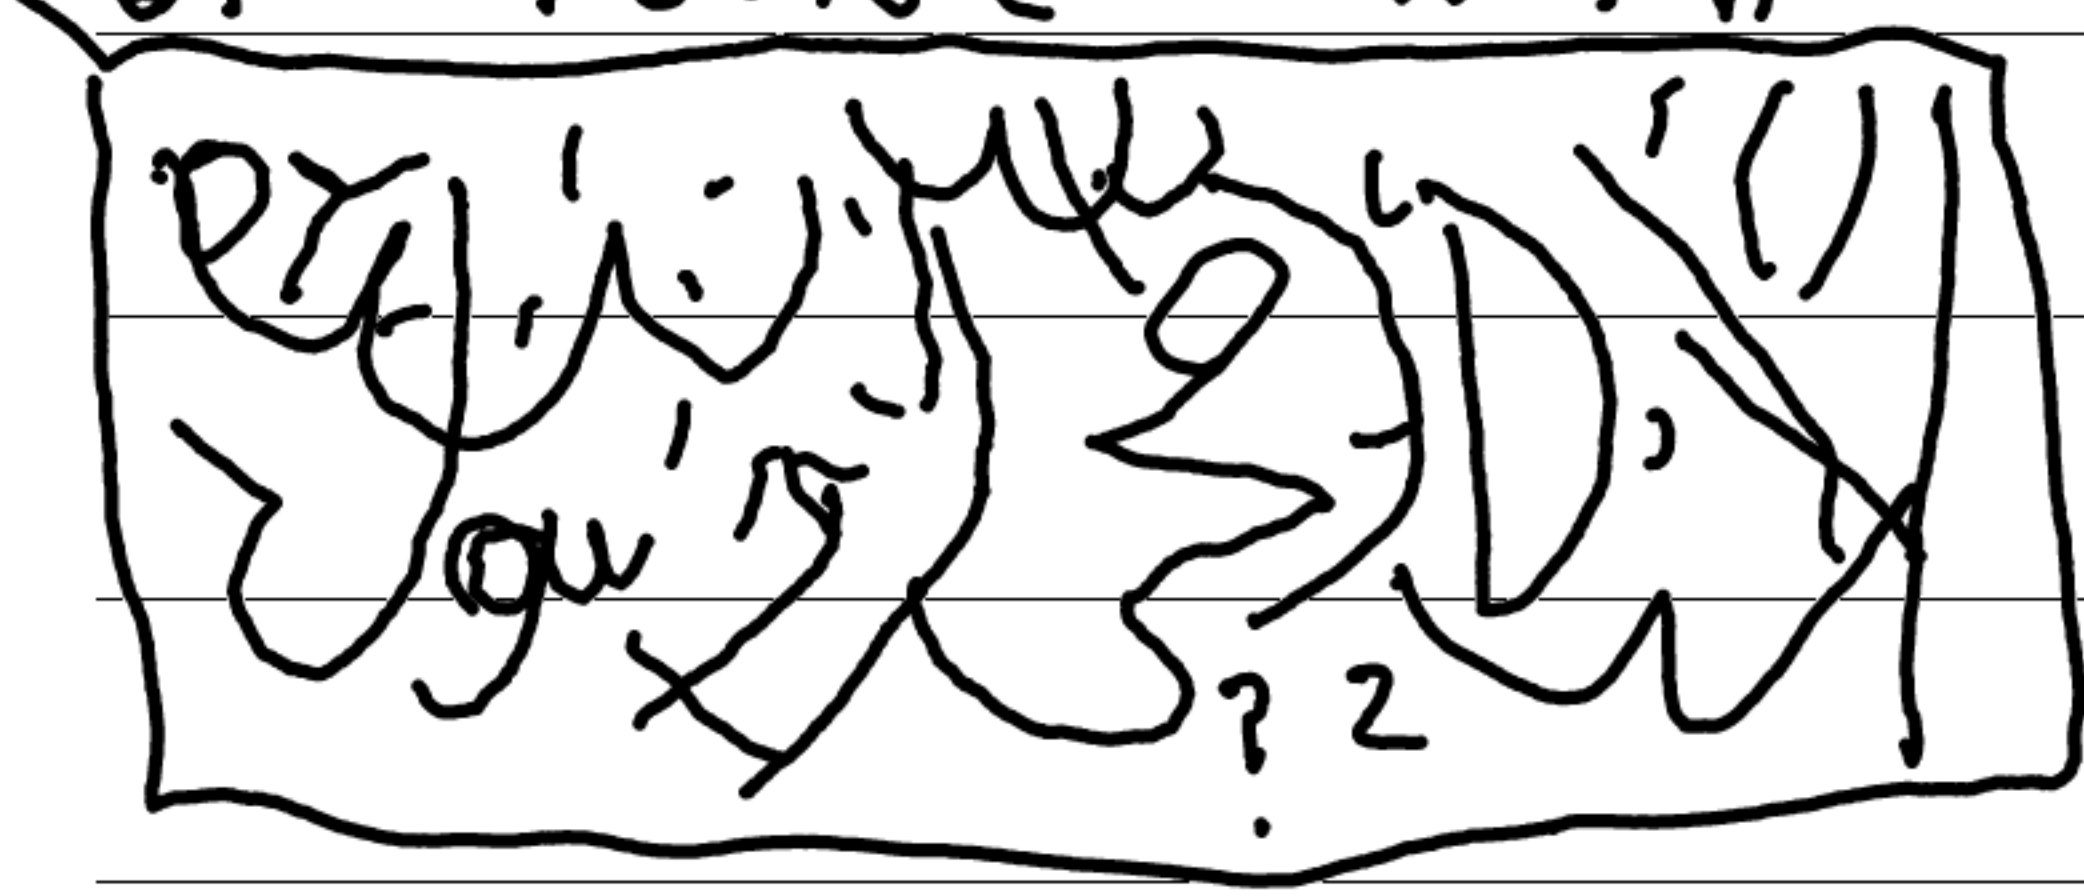

After the Oslo Accords were signed to end the first Intifada, many Israeli right-wing groups (mostly Likud supporters, religious nationalists, and settlers) started some rallies.

They strongly opposed the idea of officially giving Palestine some land and they called their Prime Minister (Yitzhak Rabin) a traitor and a Nazi.

- 'Cool Fact' -

Some of these rallies were held by an individual called Benjamin Netanyahu. (He might be important later on)

But right-winged Israelis aren't the only group that was against the Oslo Accords. A certain Palestinian group opposed the idea of peace with Israel

these 1995AY
fuck guns
Hamas enters the scene

↑
Hamas flag They conduct some of their classic suicide bombings in Ramat Gan.

1995: Prime minister Yitzhak Rabin assassinated by right wing extremist Yigal Amir, a law student who opposed the Oslo Accords.

Something to mention.

In July 1995 Biti held a mock funeral procession for Rabin, with a fake coffin inscribed with lines like
"Rabin is killing Zionism" "Death to Rabin"
"Rabin is a Traitor"

That being said

1996: Netanyahu Elected as Prime Minister

Although the Oslo Accords were signed, there are a lot of Tension-building factors.

- Ongoing occupation and settlements
- Israeli right wingers oppose Oslo Accords
- Hamas opposes Oslo Accords
- No Peace achieved at Camp David.
- Generational Anger

It seems that any event now could trigger the second Intifada

I wonder what it could be??

2000: Ariel Sharon visits the Al-Aqsa complex on the temple mount. He went there with 1000 Israeli officers. Palestinians saw this a deliberate provocation by asserting Israeli sovereignty over a Holy Muslim site.

The second intifada was a disaster

- Rock-Throwing
 - Fire-bombing
 - Rubber bullets (at first)
 - Siege of Bethlehem
 - Suicide bomb May 2001
 - Suicide bomb June
 - Snipers
 - More s-bombs
 - Grenades
 - Molotovs
 - Passover Massacre
 - Battle of Jenin
 - tunnels - mortars - rockets
- Real bullets (later)
 - Mahmoud Abbas new Palestinian Prime Minister
 - 2003 temporary Armistice
 - coordinated suicide bombing
 - Bus Attacks
 - Bulldozers
 - Tear Gas
 - cutfees
 - Violence in settlements
 - 138 total s-bombs
 - Shelling
 - Air Force

- Yasser Arafat died in Paris ???

When did it end??? It's disputed.

According to UN

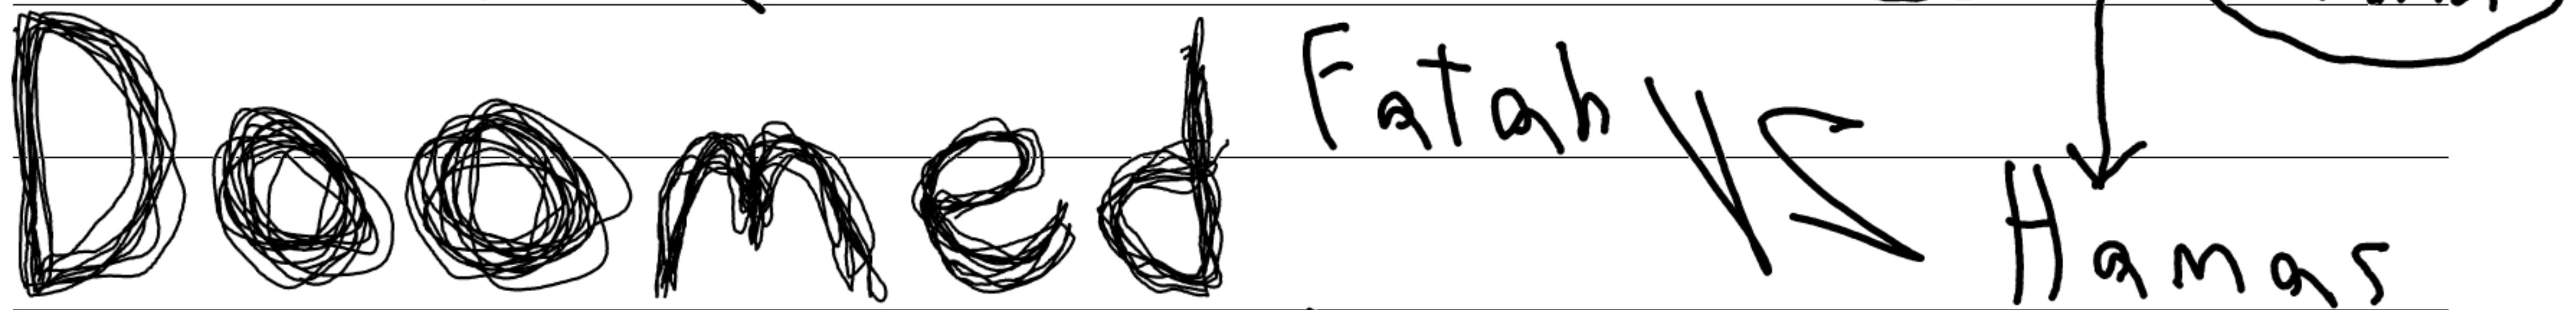

1024 Israelis, 4228 Palestinians, and 63 foreigners all died. Some of them were children.

Truly some Litrocious action

2005: Most consider this year to be the end of the intifada, although some violence continued outside of governmental control.

Gaza Disengage

Settlements and military forces withdraw from Gaza

Fatah VS Hamas
The diagram shows the word 'Doomed' in large, scribbled letters. To its right, 'Fatah' and 'Hamas' are separated by a large 'VS'. Above 'Fatah' is a cloud-like shape containing the word 'corrupt', with an arrow pointing to 'Fatah'. Above 'Hamas' is a cloud-like shape containing the word 'terrorist', with an arrow pointing to 'Hamas'.

"There is always an event that confirms whether or not you are in a doomed timeline" - Tima

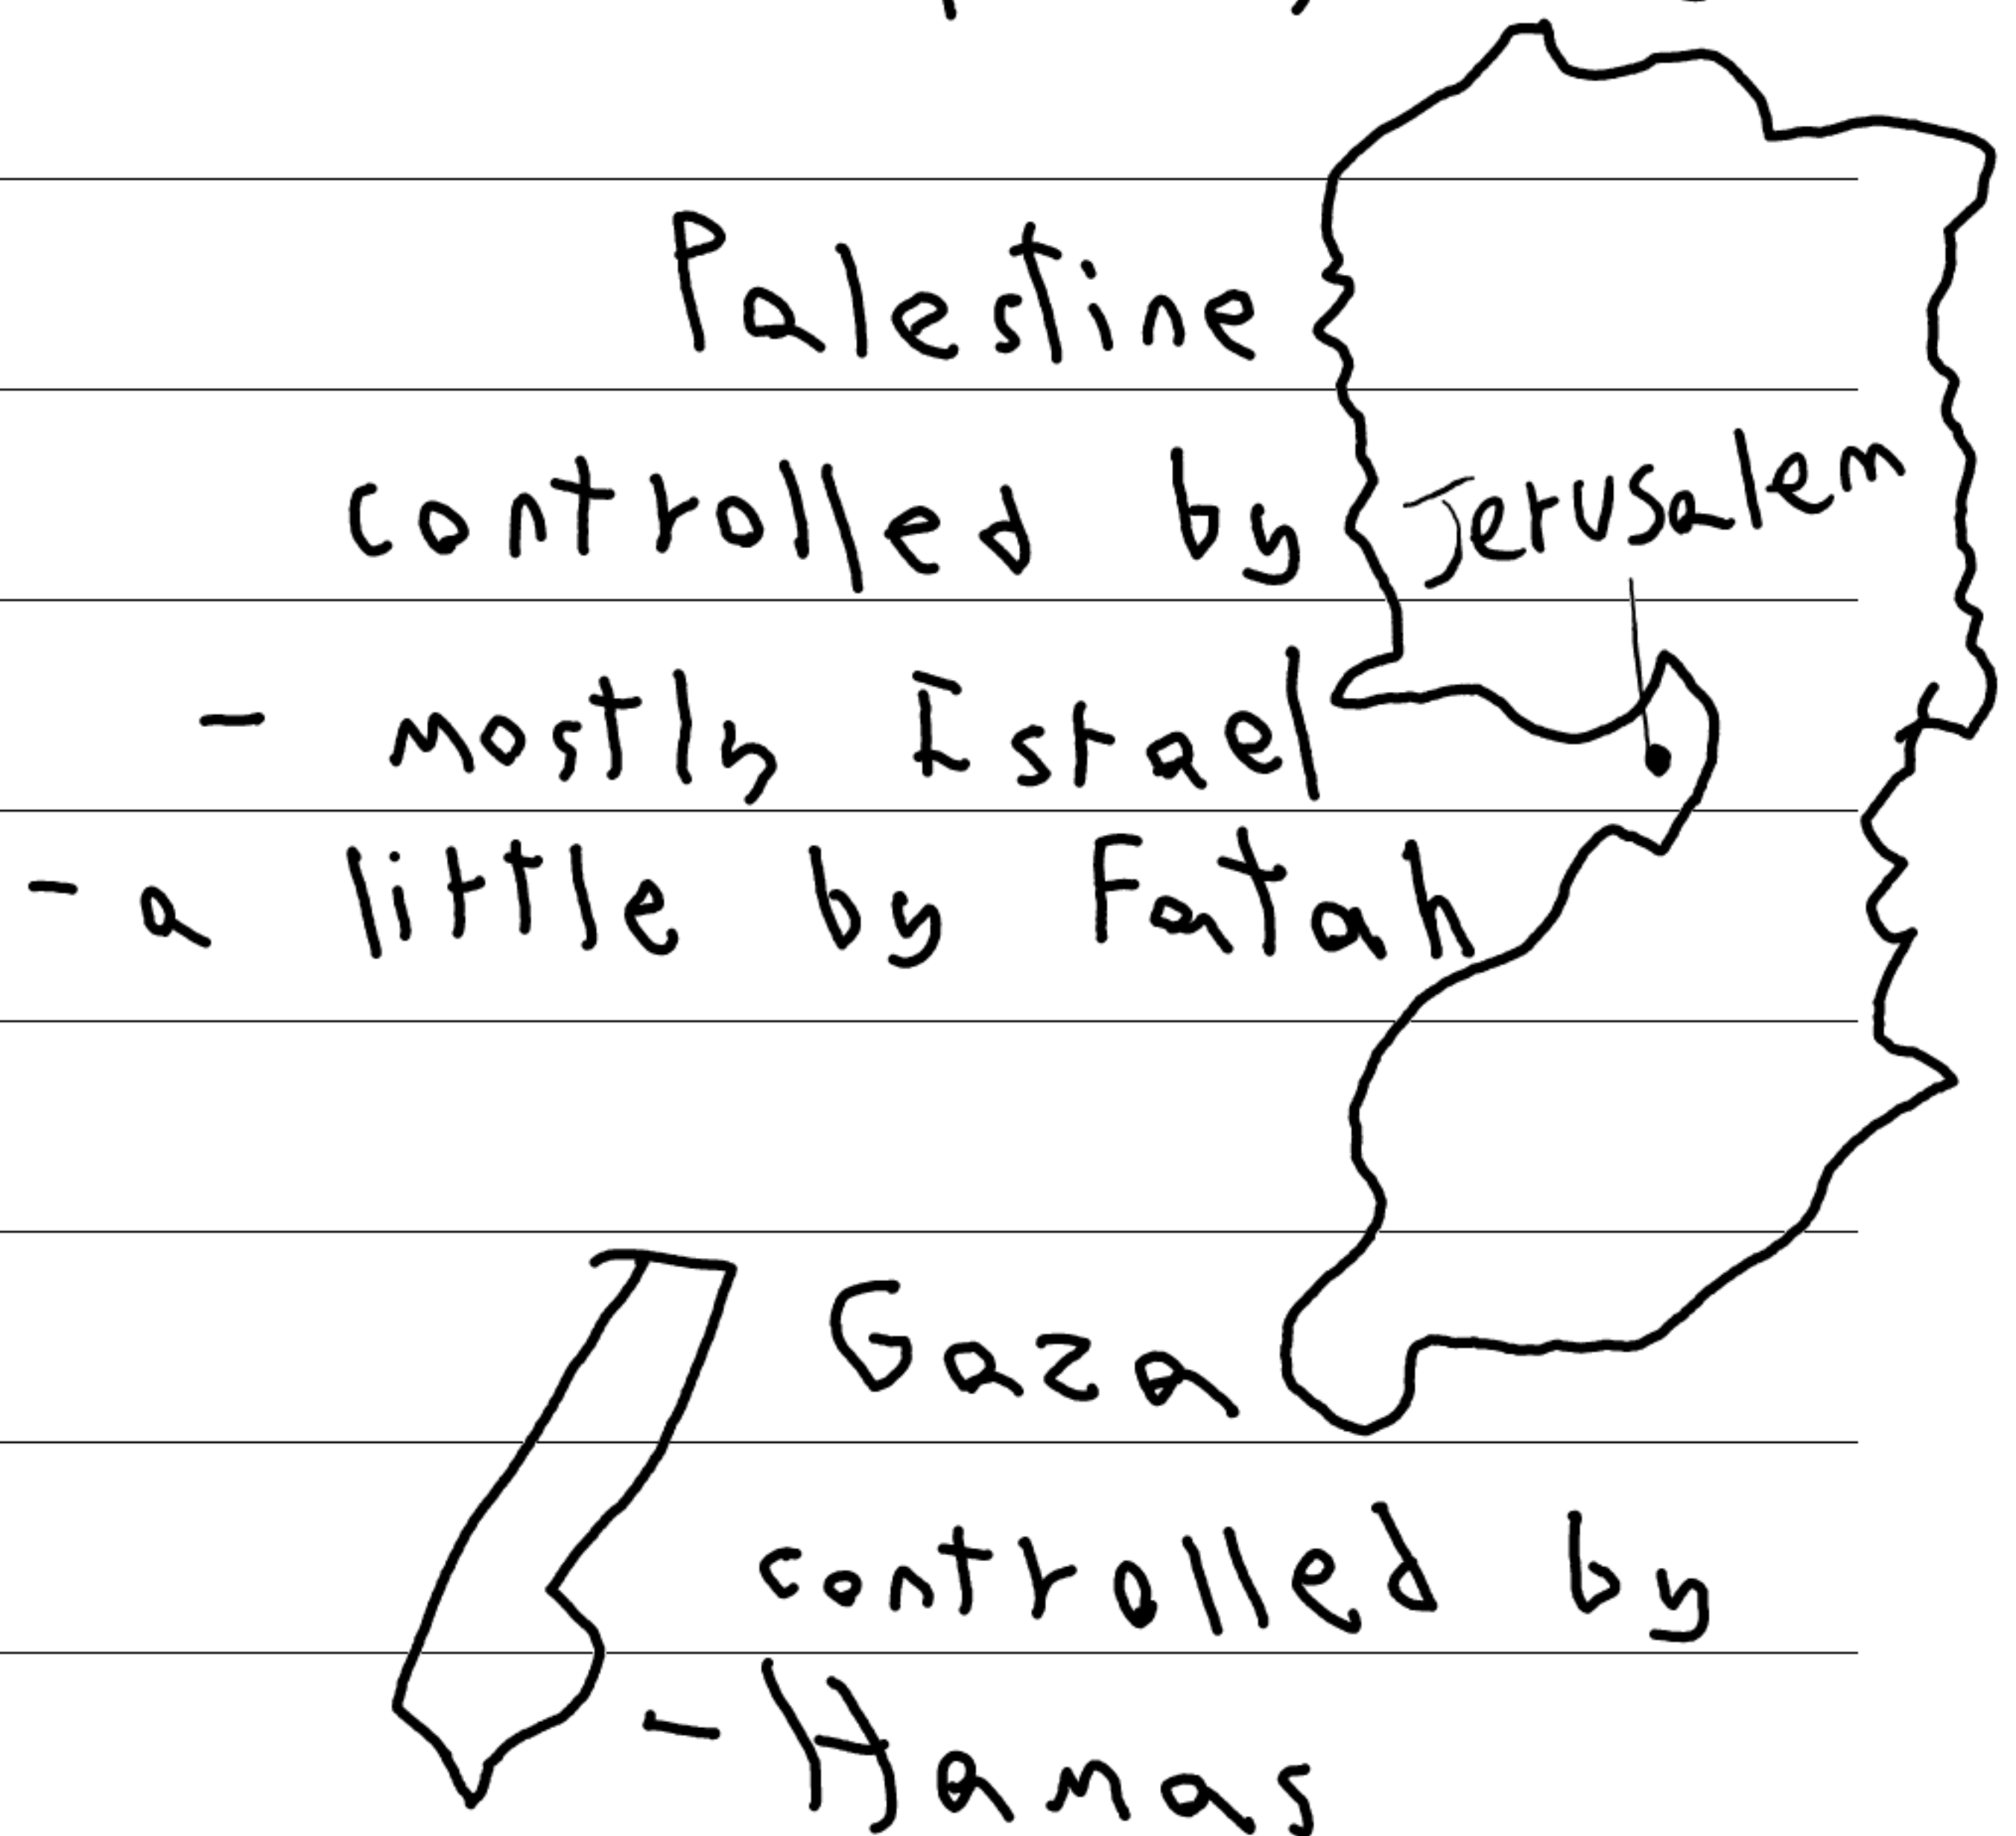

2006AY
Timeline

Hamas won the elections. The main difference between Fatah and Hamas is that Fatah is pro- Oslo Accords and they recognize Israel as a country with a right to exist. meaning that if Fatah would have won, diplomacy and negotiations may have been more possible.

> Gaza and West Bank: Divide

Fatah attempts to hold onto power, they partially succeed.

So now Palestine is divided into 2 governments. This remains like this for quite some time

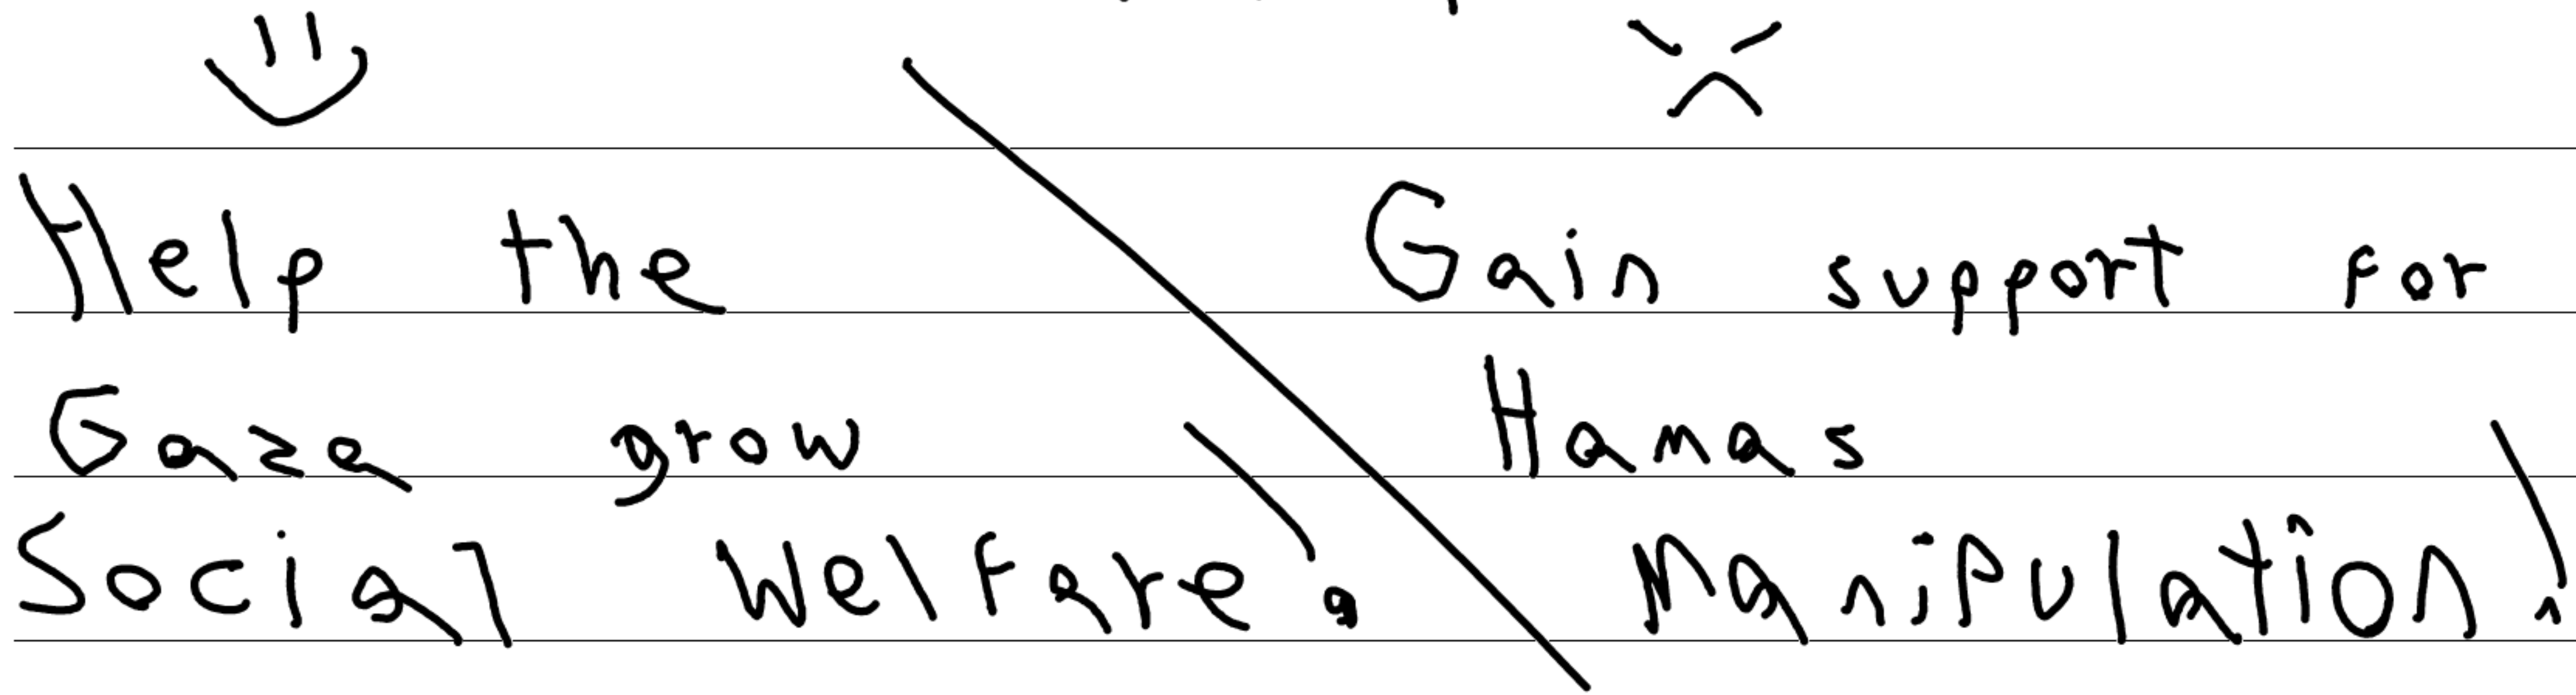

2008-2009-2012-2014

Throughout these years, Hamas does things

- Constantly attack Israel
- Constantly get counter-attacked by Israel
- Contribute to
 - Financial Aid
 - Healthcare Services
 - Education and youth programs
 - Community stuff (soup kitchens, community centers, etc)
 - Other welfare Activities.

So it would seem that Hamas actually did some pretty cool stuff as well as some unspeakably terrible stuff. US and Israeli intelligences claim that all of these social services had a dual purpose.

They could do all of this mainly because they had money from Iran, Syria, Sudan, and later on, Qatar

? ? ?
? conspiracy ? → Approved by Netanyahu?
? ? ?

Meanwhile, Fatah also did things

- They begged for Israeli occupation and settlements to be reversed or at least frozen. They were incredibly unsuccessful at even halting the creation of settlements.

- They got accused of corruption, nepotism, and wealth mismanagement.

And finally, let's see what Israel has been up to:

- Counter Attacking Gaza
- Building Cool defenses
- Improving Gains (Economy)
- Expands settlements in the West Bank despite all of Mahmoud Abbas' pleas.

So that's what the three Governing bodies have been up to for nearly 2 decades.

Some people read the situation as Israel taking advantage of Palestine's division to expand their settlements in the West Bank. This narrative aligns with some leaked Israeli documents that talk about Hamas as an asset to Israel.

This pseudo-peace only lasts so long

2020: Abraham Accords

Everyone's chill

2021: 11 day conflict:

So at this point in time Israel has an almost yearly tradition of getting bombed by Hamas, and then bombing them back.

2022 Just some more rockets from Gaza

May 2023: More rockets, but this time Israel has a cool name for their counter attack → Operation Shield and Arrow.

2026:

So Hamas has not committed acts of mass atrocities in a while. And with the backing of Iran, Qatar, and their people... They are finally ready for their

Special Attack

~~Hammas~~ Starts a War!

But it's barely a war.
It's more like a one-sided retaliatory massacre of Gaza and all of its infrastructure. All those welfare programs, the healthcare, the community centers.
But most of all, the people. A lot of people suffered. They get bombed, displaced, starved, captured, Etc. And all because of a stupid terrorist group that came into power 17 years ago. Some terrorists that don't know when to give up, when enough is enough, when to LET GO

Dear Hamas

76 years ago. You lost a war to Britain, and Britain gave you land to the Jews. You tried to get them out, you failed.
You failed many times
STOP Trying!!!!

18/04/2026

With Iran

Status Report

Gaza: 86% of infrastructure decimated

West Bank: About 60% occupied, no signs of settlement halting or reversing

Israel: Currently at war... I think, maybe they already won though, it's hard to tell. It's also hard to tell whether they still consider Palestine a country or not

My opinion is: ^{They may have done SOME good things for their people but they still want Israel DEAD and that's bad}
 Hamas is bad. ^{period}
 Israel is bad for doing settlements and for using Hamas as an asset to justify the settlements and occupation (if any of that is true). ^{period 2x combo!}

I finally know it all, I feel so knowledgeable right now. The answers I have no further questions or doubts regarding my stance. I am whole, in peace

Thanks for reading this amazing summary of the countless youtube videos and wikipedia I have consumed

Q: if you skipped to the end :/
thanks for being here anyways!

If you got something to say to me,
click

HERE

